ACTION ESSENTIAL TO GET HIGHWAY NO. 7 COMPLETED

Yalobusha County Association Urges All Other Counties Through Which Road Passes To Organize and Prepare For Energetic Campaign

To the Citizens of Grenada County:

We take this opportunity of appealing to you through your good newspaper to organize a Highway Seven Association in your county and join with us in an energetic campaign for the completion of this highway by building the link from Holly Springs to the Tennessee line, near Michigan City.

Now that No. 7 has been blacktopped from Holly Springs to Bryant, and is now being blacktopped the rest of the way to Grenada, little else remains to be done, aside from the building of the link mentioned, to hook up the entire State of Mississippi with the Broadway of America, at Jackson, Tenn.

Large sums of money have already been spent in improvements on this highway, one of the most expensive items in which has been the construction of four long concrete bridges and other costly improvements from Highway 72 north to the state line, a distance of 4.8 miles.

Tennessee has nearly completed her share of the bargain, having constructed a new airline gravel highway (No. 18) from the state line to Bolivar, and having recently concreted the same highway from Bolivar to Jackson. Paving south from Bolivar, we understand, is on the immediate Tennessee program.

All this money having been spent, it is unreasonable to suppose that the legislature will block completion of this great undertaking by refusing to vote money to build the short link necessary to [illegible] from Holly Springs to Highway 72.

This unbuilt gap has been surveyed for some time, but the money to build it has not been provided.

Water Valley is going to have a big "Rally Day" on Wednesday, November 24, and one of the main objects of this event will be to stir up interest in obtaining the completion of Highway Seven. You are all invited to attend.

Had we made more effort before the present priority list was adopted, this road no doubt would have been included. It should be a comparatively easy task to convince the legislatere at its coming session that the money for this short link of road, will accomplish more good for the whole state than the same amount of money spent anywhere else.

But it will take energetic, emphatic and cooperative persuasion on the part of the people of this whole section, even to get through this comparatively small request

We ask that your Chamber of Commerce, or Rotary Club, or other civic body, or all of them, effect an organization in your county as soon as possible.

These county organizations should then be affiliated, we think, into a general association of this section, to work for this specific improvement in an effective manner. AND THE TIME IS NOW GETTING SHORT!

Respectfully,
YALOBUSHA HIGHWAY
7 ASSOCIATION,
T. O. GORE, Secretary.

Prince Bennett

(By W. E. Boushe)

Raise a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart. Prince Bennett is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bennett, of Carroll county, near Elliott Station, Miss. They (Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bennett) were careful, painstaking and frugal farmers, and no matter how hard times were, always put something aside for a rainy day. They were the parents of Prince, the subject of this sketch, and Tillman, also an excellent citizen, and several fine daughters. The home of the Bennetts was not portentous, but comfortable. The larder was always overflowing. They were true friends. Prince Bennett lives eight miles south of Grenada on a place of his own. One only has to take a casual glance to see the excellency of the husbandry. The pastures are well sodded and terraced, the fields well cleared and the ditch banks cultivated to water's edge. There seems to be no crop failure there, so splendid is the systematic culture. Prince has good cattle, good and plenty of hogs, work stock bespeak a well filled barn.

Prince married an excellent lady who more than does her part as the help-meet of Prince. They have a sweet and comfortable home, where everything bespeaks thrift and progress. You often hear the fact deplored that the reason our farm section is not more progressive is that the farmers are now living out of paper sacks instead of raising their living. That does not apply to Prince, when Prince comes to town he comes on business, he has something to sell. He brings dairy products, chickens, eggs, meat, and vegetables besides a bountiful supply of field products. Prince is truly a model farmer, and in that he is always busy, he is always happy. I knew Prince as a boy. I used to run a store at Elliott and several times each week he would come in with farm produce. He never lost time as did most boys in dispensing of his wares, he hastily returned to his chores which he really enjoyed. He was a good boy, and is a good man, not only interested in himself and family, but the community as well. He stands by anyone worthy of his friendship. Prince Bennett in his sense of honor and principal has not departed from his raising.

It's a fact...

HELP HOME BUILDING BY REMOVING OBSTACLES IS DEMAND

Chicago, Nov. 6—Speaking for ten million families that are looking forward to building or buying a new home within the next few years, American Builder, leading publication in the home building field, demands in the November issue that this country stop penalizing the home owner and institute a "new deal" that will encourage private investment in homes, with resulting home building activity.

"Some of the critics of the building industry," this journal declares, "seem to take the attitude that there is a deliberate conspiracy to hold back building. They seem to talk as though the industry cannot, or will not—for some malicious reason—produce small houses within the reach of the masses.

"Certain fundamental problems must be solved to permit home building to flourish as it should. Several of them, like high taxes and interest rates, require not only the organization of the entire building industry, but the backing of all home owners. If these millions of voters were probably directed, the most pressing problems could be quickly solved.

"High Taxes—The greatest single obstacle to home ownership is the archaic system that puts 60 per cent of the national tax burden on real estate, which enjoys but 20 per cent of the national income. Talk about helping home building? This unfair system penalizes a man for building a home. When John Smith, a wage earner, considers buying or building a $5,000 home, he is faced with the possibility in many communities that he will have to pay from $8 to $12 per month in taxes. Added to his interest and amortization payments, this is all too often the item that kills the incentive to build.

"What is really needed is a fundamental revision of the tax system, putting real estate taxes on the basis of a reasonable tax on income. People are also solving the tax problem in their own way by leaving the municipalities that are treating them unfairly and building in semi-rural sections on the edges of cities and along highways where the tax burden is not so severe.

"Interest Costs—The highest interest rates in the world are paid by American home owners in a land which has more money lying idle than any other nation in the world. In England, Germany, Norway and Sweden, interest money is available to very low income groups at from 3½ to 4½ per cent. In America the average cost today is between 6 and 7 per cent. Lowell J. Chawner, senior economic analyst of the Department of Commerce, states that if interest rates were reduced 2 per cent and the period of amortization were extended to 30 years, 5 million more American families could afford to own their own homes.

"In terms of the average home buyer: if, by lowering the interest rate and extending the period of amortization he can buy a sound, well built home at a cost of $20 instead of $30 per month, it will mean the vital difference between saying yes or no. The life of the average well-built home in this country is far longer than is commonly supposed. Seventy to one hundred years is not uncommon. On soundly built, well planned projects, a 30-year amortization period would not be excessive.

"Here too, progress is being made. The 20-year amortized loan popularized by the FHA is a tremendous step forward from the old single-mortgage system. Some large lending institutions are making 4 and 4½ per cent loans on super-well secured properties. A movement is under way to reduce the interest on HOLC loans to 3½ per cent, the rate set by Congress for farmers to pay their 30-year loans.

"If the building industry, thru the right kind of organization, can enlist the help of the millions of present home owners in a real fight for lower taxes and lower interest rates, these two vital problems can be solved almost overnight.

"There is no doubt that lagging construction is at present one of the weakest spots in the economic system. There is also no doubt but that the New Deal Administration would like to do something to stimulate a program of small home construction. By far the greatest benefit to everyone will result from attention to the fundamental problems stated above—particularly those relating to interest and taxes."

What effect would such home building encouragement have on general business? On this important phase of the matter American Builder declares:

"The recent sharp decline of prices in the stock markets has caused alarm and controversy. Some fear it marks the beginning of another major depression. Some charge it is not warranted by any change in business but is due to manipulation and conspiracy to discredit the New Deal.

"It has accompanied a recession of general business; but experience indicates that it almost certainly does not mark the beginning of another major depression.

"Early resumption of the increase of residential building is inevitable, because the pressure of increasing population is bound soon to force up rentals so much that the profits from building ownership will become plainly greater than the risks of investment in building.

"No single index shows more than a temporary decline in residential building. All indicate that some needed changes in local, state and federal government policies to encourage investments of available capital would soon cause a building boom that would be a vitally necessary part of great expansion of general business."

Fourth Corps Area At Full Strength By December 31, 1937

Vacancies In Limited Numbers Now Exist At Every Army Post In Area

Major General George Van Horn Moseley has just announced the inauguration of an intensive recruiting campaign for the purpose of bringing every organization in the Fourth Corps Area up to its full authorized strength prior to December 31, 1937.

Vacancies in limited numbers now exist at every Army Post located in the eight Southeastern States comprising the Fourth Corps Area.

Young men wishing to see service in the Infantry will be sent to the 29th Infantry at Fort Benning, Ga., the 8th Infantry at Fort Screven, Ga., and Fort Moultrie, S. C., or the 22nd Infantry at Fort McClellan, Ala., and Fort McPherson, Ga. All accepted for the Cavalry will be assigned to the 6th Cavalry at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Those interested in Field Artillery will be sent to Fort Bragg, N. C., or Fort Benning, Ga. The 13th Coast Artillery at Fort Barrancas, Fla., has a number of vacancies that will be filled.

Of unusual interest to the southern boys will be the announcement of receipt of authorization to accept 500 recruits for service in Hawaii. Tropical service, especially in Hawaii, has proven very popular in the Fourth Corps Area General Moseley stated, and young men interested in travel should apply for this choice assignment without delay. Recruits accepted for Hawaii are scheduled to sail from Charleston, S. C. on December 10, 1937, through the Panama Canal according to present plans.

Every lad between the ages of 18 and 35 who is undecided as to his future is cordially invited to investigate the opportunities offered through a three year enlistment in the Regular Army. He must be a citizen of the United States, of sound mind and body, unmarried and without dependents, of good character and not less than 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh not less than 115 pounds.

If you are interested in an Army career, see one of the Army Recruiters at the following stations or write a letter to The Commanding General, Fourth Corps Area, Post Office Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Story of U. S. D. A. Is Published On 75th Anniversary

Copy of The Publication Just Off The Press. E. H. White Receives One

The story of the rise and development of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is now available in published form on the occasion of its seventy-fifth anniversary being observed this month.

A copy of the publication, which is just off the presses, was received this week by E. H. White, state director of extension, with the information that it will be available to farmers who desire to become better acquainted with the history of the institution, which is an integral part of American agriculture.

The publication, entitled "The Response of Government to Agriculture," was written by Arthur P. Chew.

Turning back to the time when the act was signed the author states: "Agriculture was at a crisis then, a crisis in which the principal need was more production. It is at a crisis now, though of a different kind. The modern difficulty, which still includes the need to increase the productivity of the farms, embraces also the job of finding a satisfactory market for increasing productivity."

There is a supply of copies for free distribution available, while the supply lasts, to those who write the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., requesting it.

Nearly 1,000 People Die Daily of Heart Disease, Says Dr. Underwood

Apprehension at the constantly increasing deaths from heart disease was voiced by Dr. Felix J. Underwood, state health officer, in a recent press release. Stating that heart disease is the greatest murderer of human lives in the United States, Dr. Underwood asserted that nearly 1,000 people die of it daily in this country.

This figure represents approximately one-third of all reported deaths. Claiming twice as many lives as cancer, heart disease kills ten times as many victims as automobile accidents.

"Reasons for the mounting casualties from heart disease are numerous," Dr. Underwood said, "but the medical profession as a whole agrees that the increase is brought on by the preventable diseases of childhood, such as scarlet fever, measles, mumps, whooping cough, diphtheria; the ravages of untreated or inadequately treated syphilis, which accounts for perhaps one-third of all deaths from heart disease; plus the fast killing pace of modern life. The last is certainly not the least in the cause of deaths from diseases of the heart.

"That present day strain is in a large measure responsible for increasing mortality from heart disease in Mississippi is indicated by a comparison of figures today and twenty years ago. In 1917, 1439 people died from heart disease in this state. Noting the figures of last year—2846—we find an increase of nearly 100 per cent in the short space of twenty years."

The health officer continued, "Annual examinations are the most valuable preventative measure in heart disease. Through them early heart damage may be located and immediate treatment instituted. Only the physician can accurately diagnose heart disease, and only he can effectively prescribe for it.

"Drugs are seldom used. The proper treatment is usually a mode of living. Plenty of rest, fresh air, and sunshine, a limited amount of stimulants, such as coffee, tea, and alcoholic beverages, and curtailed excitement and hurry are frequent advice. The degree of these measures, however, varies with each individual."

Since heart disease is both preventable and curable, it is the opinion of the state health executive that within a reasonable time a reduction of the number of cases and deaths from this cause can be accomplished. "Together, the medical profession and health officials, working hand in hand with the people, conquered yellow fever, Bubonic plague, smallpox, and typhoid," Dr. Underwood said and concluded, "it stands to reason that the same knowledge and effort applied in the field of prevention and cure of heart disease will secure comparable results."

Public Is Asked To Contribute To Mississippi Children's Home Society

Many years ago the Princess of Egypt, discovering a little Hebrew baby, became very much concerned over his welfare and without knowing to whom she was speaking, said to the mother:

"Take this child away and nurse it for me and I will pay thee wages."

[illegible] and the Princess [illegible] that time that this little baby would be selected by Jehovah to lead the children of Israel back into the promised land.

At this season of the year, we, like the Princess, are interested chiefly in helping the helpless.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, also the governors of the various states, have issued proclamations asking the people of America to express in their own way their gratitude to God for the blessings bestowed upon them since last Thanksgiving Day.

Long before the Pilgrims became the Fathers of America, harvest time was the season of Thanksgiving. The custom carries its blessing and elevates mankind and gives glory to God.

There has been a lot of discussion about the Constitution lately, and I contend that it is unconstitutional for children to be homeless and in need when the very foundation of our government is laid on the principle that "Every child in America shall have equal rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

In honoring our flag, as it waves we should provide for every child under its banner. We should think less of international insults and more better care of children at [illegible]

For twenty-five years, the Mississippi Children's Home Society, headquarters at Jackson, has been doing the best it could to help these unfortunate little children, with what means it had. Depending entirely on voluntary contributions, its work was limited. If more of these children could be reclaimed and placed in good, moral homes, we would have a happier nation and fewer of our people would pass through the courts to the prisons.

The season of Thanksgiving is here. Providence has been kind and many are enjoying great blessings.

Our appeal is to those who have, to help those who haven't.

Any contribution you may desire to make to the Mississippi Children's Home Society will be very much appreciated, and properly used.

Record Grocery Sale

"Founder's Week Sale" at the Jitney-Jungle grocery store is going at full speed. The sale began last Friday, presenting the public of Grenada a store brim full of fine foods at prices urging every housewife to fill the pantry. In addition to regular staple items many national products are participating.

Only two more sale days remain and they are planned to be the biggest of the eight. Extra special values are to prevail throughout the store. In speaking of "Founder's Week Sale" and the results, Messrs. Ellis and Gully said: "At no time since we have been serving the people of Grenada and territory have we advertised a bargain event so greatly appreciated. It has been a glorious success. In order to make a record breaker in volume business, for Friday and Saturday, our last two days, we will give still greater values as a substantial way of expressing our appreciation. The sale, besides benefitting our regular patrons greatly, has made many new friends for us."

Friday and Saturday of this week will close the Jitney-Jungle "Founder's Week Sale" and everybody is invited to take advantage of these last two days of fast grocery selling.

Fumigate Now To Control Weevil In Corn And Peas

The Liquid Should Be Placed In Shallow Pans At Intervals

According to N. L. Douglas, inspector for the State Plant Board, located at Grenada, now is the time to fumigate your corn and peas for weevil control.

Where your cribs, or storage rooms are moderately tight 10 pounds of carbon di-sulphide (high life) per 1,000 cubic feet of space is sufficient to give very good results, provided the corn, or peas are thoroughly dry. The liquid should be placed in shallow pans at intervals around over the top of the corn or peas and then covered with a tarpaulin or cover of some kind.

Care should be taken not to expose to fire within forty-eight (48) hours after the fumigant is released.

LOCAL NAVAL STATION TO BE CLOSED FROM NOV. 17TH TO NOV. 20TH

A. W. Paschal, Electrician's Mate First Class, U. S. Navy, announced that the local Recruiting Station will be closed from Nov. 17, 1937 to Nov. 20, 1937.

The How and Why of the National Unemployment Census

A nation-wide census of all unemployed and partially unemployed persons in the United States will be taken between the dates of November 16 to 20, by act of Congress, and at the direction of President Roosevelt.

Here, in question-and-answer form, is the information you need to know about this plan.

1. WHAT IS PURPOSE OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS?
To get an accurate count of the unemployed and partly unemployed.

2. TO WHOM WILL CARDS BE SENT?
To every family in the United States.

3. UNDER WHOSE AUSPICES IS THE CENSUS BEING TAKEN?
Congress has decreed, and the President has directed, that it be taken.

4. IS THE CENSUS COMPULSORY?
No. But every unemployed or partly unemployed person is urgently requested to cooperate.

5. HOW WILL THE CENSUS BE CONDUCTED?
Through the facilities of the Post Office Department. Report Cards will be delivered to every family. Cards are to be returned by mail to Washington for tabulation and analysis.

6. WHEN WILL THE CENSUS BE TAKEN?
Cards will be delivered on November 16 and must be returned by MIDNIGHT NOVEMBER 20. They are already addressed and no postage is required.

7. WHO SHOULD FILL AND RETURN CARDS?
Every person who is unemployed or partly unemployed who is able to work and wants work.

8. WHAT AGE LIMITS APPLY?
There are no age limits except existing State regulations concerning workers' ages.

9. SHOULD MORE THAN ONE UNEMPLOYED PERSON IN A FAMILY RETURN A CARD?
Yes. Every unemployed member of a family should fill out and return a card, if able to work and seeking work.

10. WHERE MAY ADDITIONAL CARDS BE OBTAINED?
At any post office or from your postman.

11. WHERE CAN INFORMATION BE SECURED IN FILLING OUT CARDS?
At your post office or from your postman.

12. IS THIS CENSUS CONFINED TO AMERICAN CITIZENS?
No. All permanent residents of the United States are included.

13. IS THE INFORMATION GIVEN ON THE CARDS TO BE CONSIDERED CONFIDENTIAL?
Yes. This information will be used for unemployment statistics only.

14. SHOULD EVERY QUESTION OF THE CENSUS CARD BE ANSWERED?
Yes. To obtain the most accurate information possible, the President asks that each question be answered. Numbers 9 and 10 are particularly important. However, failure to answer some of the questions will not invalidate the card.

15. WHO IS AN "UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
A person of either sex or any color who is not working and is able to work and seeking work.

16. WHO IS A "PARTLY UNEMPLOYED" PERSON?
A person of either sex or any color with part-time employment who is able to do more work and is looking for more work.

17. ARE PERSONS ON EMERGENCY WORK PROJECTS INCLUDED?
Yes. They should register as unemployed. A specific question, Number 2c, is provided on the Report Card for all persons working on a W.P.A., N.Y.A., C.C.C., or other emergency work project which is supported by public funds.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

The White House
Washington

TO EVERY WORKER:

If you are unemployed or partly unemployed and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, November 20, 1937. No postage stamp is needed.

The Congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest, and accurate. If you give me the facts, I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

39 Game Law Violators Arrested

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 19—Thirty-nine game law violators were arrested during the first week of a statewide enforcement drive by the State Game and Fish Commission Director Si Corley said today.

"Most of the arrests were for failure to have hunting licenses," Director Corley said.

Continuance of the drive was announced by the conservation official, who said around 500 enforcement officials, including state game wardens, deputies, and county authorities were participating.

"We are endeavoring to make the sportsmen and others game law conscious so that violations will be reduced to a minimum," Mr. Corley said. "The purpose of the enforcement drive is to inform the citizens of the provisions of our conservation laws and to seek their cooperation in seeing that they are observed."

Of the 39 arrests, 14 were for failure to have hunting licenses, while 10 were for hunting out of season. Five arrests and convictions were secured for having fur in possession out of season, the fines ranging from 10 to $25.

Four violators were charged with hunting on Sunday, and three on posted land. One each was for having more than the bag limit, gun not plugged and no license to seine.

Hunting licenses for county use cost only $1.25, with state wide privileges given for $3.25.

The violations follow:

Adams County: Archie Goings, Natchez, more than bag limit, $10.

DeSoto County: W. S. Jordan, Lake Cormorant, hunting without license, $10; Jonas Carter, Hernando, illegal possession of fur, $10; Hux Johnson, Lake Cormorant, illegal possession of fur, $25.

Forest County: C. G. Wigley, Hattiesburg, fishing without license.

Franklin County: J. R. McDonald, Natchez, hunting without license, $10.

Hinds County: Mose Thomas, Van Winkle, hunting out of season $10; Oscar Wallace, Jackson, Hunting in Hinds county with Rankin county license $10.

Itawamba County: M. J. Fears, Amory, J. D. Boyd, Amory, and Phil Finch, Amory, hunting on Sunday, $5 each; Swept Shumpert, more than bag limit $25.

Jones County: Herbert Childress Ellisville, hunting without license and on game preserve $20.

Lafayette County: Lyons Leonmon, Oxford, gun not plugged, $10.

Madison County: Eddie Williams Flora, hunting out of season $10, Cephus Proudy, Flora, hunting out of season $10; H. E. Adams Jackson, hunting on posted land $10; A. J. Bryant, Jackson, hunting on posted land $10; H. L. Landfair, Jackson, hunting on posted land, $10; Perry Brown, Canton, hunting without license $10.

Marshall County: Dan White and Harry Stinson, hunting without license $10 each.

Newton County: Mims Ship and Thelma McKee, Hickory, hunting without license, $10 each.

Panola County: S. M. McKee, Memphis, hunting without license $10; O. D. Hendrix, Pope, hunting without license $10.

Rankin County: Roy Quinn, Florence, hunting without license $10.

Sunflower County: Dan King, Indianola, killing a wild goose out of season $35.

Tate County: Willie Flemmings, Henry Peyton and Hubert Wilkerson, Savage, hunting without license, $10 each; Mac Campbell, Senatobia, hunting out of season, $10; Hardin Campbell, Senatobia, hunting out of season $10.

Tunica County: Grover Smith, Crenshaw, unlawful possession of fur $25; Bert Parker, Askew, unlawful passession of fur $20.

Union County: Louis Garner, Etta, possession of pelts out of season $10.

20 Day Extension to Be Asked in January

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 19—A 20 day extension in the bird hunting season will be proposed at the January legislative session by sportsmen, according to Ben M. Stevens, secretary of the State Game and Fish Commission. Under the new season to be sought, with approval of the game commission, the dates would be from December 10 to February 20, instead of the present closing date of January 31.

"All necessary for the commission to make the change is a resolution by the Legislature conveying the necessary authorization," Secretary Stevens explained. "The Commission is without authority to change the closing date without legislative permission."

Meanwhile, Commissioner Stevens revealed that many sportsmen had commended the action of the commission in fixing the opening date for December 10, instead of the previously earlier season.

"The earlier date resulted in the killing of many young birds, some of which were still nesting," he explained. "Many sportsmen urged a later date because the birds were found to be too small in the former season."

Commissioner Stevens explained that even with the date delayed, Mississippi enjoys a longer hunting season than other states, particularly Pennsylvania, leader in the conservation movement, which allows hunting for only 13 days. In addition, the daily bag limit is 4 with 12 for the season, while in Mississippi the daily bag limit is 12.

In Iowa, the bird hunting season is only 31 days.

"It can be seen that Mississippi sportsmen really enjoy a longer period even though the date was recently changed," Commissioner Stevens pointed out.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the Mississippi Society for Crippled Children, cooperating with the Mississippi Crippled Children's Service, has for many years made an appeal for aid for crippled children of the State, and

WHEREAS, four hundred children in Mississippi have been victims of infantile paralysis since last Thanksgiving, and

WHEREAS, although the 1936 contributions have helped materially in providing treatment for these unfortunate children, most of whom have been saved from becoming helpless cripples because someone cared enough to give in the Annual Thanksgiving Drive, the treatment is far from completion and these, together with one hundred and thirty-five cases of infantile paralysis stricken in 1936, have added more than five hundred to the active roll of eight hundred cases being handled by these organizations, not counting innumerable cases which the societies have never been able to reach because of lack of funds; and

WHEREAS, officials of these organizations believe that most, if not all, of these unfortunate children can be materially helped if Mississippians, who enjoy the blessings of health and strength, will each donate as little as the price of a picture show ticket or a couple of ice cream cones; and

WHEREAS, the Mississippi Society for Crippled Children has designated these dates for its annual appeal for contributions;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HUGH WHITE, Governor of the State of Mississippi, do hereby designate

NOVEMBER 15th to 25th

as the period during which all clubs, civic organizations, missionary societies, Sunday schools, churches, public schools and colleges should study the needs of the ten thousand crippled children of Mississippi, and do everything in their power to reclaim these future citizens, and if possible to contribute generously to the Mississippi Society for Crippled Children of which F. J. Hubbard of Jackson is Treasurer.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed this 8th day of November, A. D. 1937.

By the Governor:
HUGH WHITE, Governor.
WALKER WOOD,
Secretary of State.

HOW NEW MOTOR OIL SAVES POWER LOSS

Lion Naturalube

ADDS POWER by removing CARBON from PISTONS, RINGS & VALVES

You can save five ways and have greater motor efficiency by switching to Naturalube, because Naturalube checks the chief causes of power-loss—hard carbon and excessive wear.

Naturalube's ability to remove hard carbon and its greater film strength come from the basically different kind of crude from which it is refined—and Lion's special new refining process. Nothing is added to Naturalube. It is a pure distilled motor oil.

Naturalube's ability to remove power-destroying hard carbon from pistons, rings, valves, and spark plugs means real savings for you. By removing hard carbon, Naturalube prevents power-loss and unnecessary repairs and saves gasoline and oil.

Stronger NATURAL Film Saves WEAR

Naturalube also saves substantial sums formerly spent for repairs by providing a trustworthy guard against friction wear. Naturalube's stronger, natural film is a greater protection against oil film failure and provides a wide margin of safety.

Definite savings result when your motor is protected from wear by Naturalube's stronger film and ability to remove carbon deposits. Take advantage of this opportunity to increase motor efficiency while you save! Buy Naturalube the next time you buy motor oil and start saving five ways. Sold at all Lion stations and dealers. Look for the Lion.

BUY NATURALUBE and SAVE FIVE WAYS

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE: Go to any dealer who displays the Lion sign and have him fill your crankcase with Naturalube. Give it a fair trial—then if in your opinion it is not the best oil you ever used—her name—your money will be refunded without question. Ask for illustrated literature giving complete facts about this distinctly different, definitely better motor oil.

Seeing Gore Springs

(By Juanita Trussell)

We are sorry to report that Jammie Britt is absent from school this week, all because of an old appendix. We hope that when she casts it aside, she will soon be well and back in school.

We're glad to see T. J. back in school this week. He seems to be glad to be back too. We hope you won't miss any more, T. J.

The high school boys are working on a minstrel to be given the last of November. Come on boys, work hard, let's have a good minstrel.

The seniors are getting impatient because their rings won't come. Be steady, seniors, they're coming.

Minnie Carpenter can't seem to remember that sodium chloride is the same as ordinary table salt. Wonder what Minnie has on her mind! I bet its not chemistry.

Elwanda has advised all we girls to eat turnip greens every day and we can play ball better. We believe that because she really made some goals Friday after eating turnip greens for her lunch.

James Sultan has made a discovery. He says the typewriter has Valentine on it. From all evidence, his eyes are deceiving him.

Wonder why Theodo isn't playing basketball? We believe it is because she has no suit to wear. Do you agree with us?

Listen, we appreciate visitors at Gore Springs, so visit our school and see what good work the pupils are doing. Oh boy, but we're working.

Children In Court

Five cases heard in juvenile court this week plainly revealed that young men and women must be associated with the church and character building groups if they are to avoid the unwholesome influences of the questionable dance hall and beer garden.

So long as parents and adults scoff at the church and the efforts of character building groups, the United States will continue to lead the world in organized crime. Persons of this type should not blame the politician when their taxes are high, for it costs approximately $3500.00 to construct a cell block for a single youth who has developed into a hardened adult offender.

The Artesian Well Man to be Here

J. A. Pollard, the well known artesian well man, will be in Grenada next week and with his well digging outfit and would be glad to see anybody interested in work of that kind. Mr. Pollard lives in Oakland and is an authority on work in his line. He is a reliable man and the public can depend upon what he says about anything.

Joint Thanksgiving Service

There will be a joint Thanksgiving service held at the Presbyterian Church on Thanksgiving Day, November 28. As usual in Grenada, all the congregations of the town will unite in the service. The preaching will be by Rev. J. R. Countiss, at 11 o'clock. The offerings will be for the benefit of the orphans of the several churches. Everybody invited to be on hand for the service.

The Young Ladies of the Methodist Church announce that they will hold a Christmas Exchange on the afternoon and evening of December 12, at the home of Mrs. J. Sidney Sharp, on Main Street. The Circle is busy making attractive, dainty Christmas novelties, and are planning, in connection with the Exchange, a delightful social hour to those who will attend.

10 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

Miss Mary Leigh Mason left Monday for her home in Gastonia, N. C., after an extended stay in the City Beautiful, the guest of Miss Daisy Leigh Roane, on Main Street. She was accompanied to Memphis by Miss Roane and her mother, Mrs. Drew Roane, and by Mrs. Donald Sharp and her mother, Mrs. J. H. Caldwell, of Charleston, who returned to Grenada Tuesday.

Messrs. J. H. Murray, W. E. Jackson and L. J. Doak spent several days the first of the week in the rice fields of Arkansas duck shooting. They apparently had excellent luck as they seemingly are anxious to make a return trip.

Master George Ellett Lawrence left yesterday afternoon for a two weeks' visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pinkerton, in Clarksville, Ark. His mother is with him. Their father and husband accompanied them as far as Memphis.

Mr. G. D. Thomason, Grenada county's genial and accommodating chancery clerk, accompanied by his excellent wife, motored to Senatobia to spend the week-end with relatives.

Mrs. J. H. Caldwell, of Charleston, who accompanied Mr. Caldwell to Grenada the first of the week, remained over for a few days' visit to her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sharp, on Snider Street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ramey, of Oxford, spent the week-end in Grenada with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sisk. Their young grandson, Jimmie Faulkner, accompanied them.

Mesdames Howard Aldridge, W. A. Motherahed and Ward Alexander, motored to Memphis Thursday and spent the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cain spent a short while the first of the week in Memphis.

Mrs. M. R. Shewmake left Monday for her home in Detroit, Mich., after spending three weeks with her mother, Mrs. L. V. Norwood, and family. Mrs. Shewmake's many Grenada friends regretted that she could not prolong her visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bowen, residing twelve miles east of Grenada, are rejoicing over the arrival into their home on Friday, Nov. 11, Armistice Day, of their firstborn, a son. The young gentleman has been christened William Ward Bowen.

Among the many present at the Baptist State Convention who received the most cordial greetings from Grenada friends was Hon. C. C. White, state auditor-elect. Mr. White was entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Lawrence.

Rev. John W. Young, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, at Greenville, was in Grenada a short while the first of this week, the guest of his father, Dr. J. W. Young, and family. Mr. Young is one of many Grenada boys who is always delightedly welcomed whenever the opportunity permits him to pay a visit back home. He is doing a great work in the Christain ministry and is but following the example set by the lowly Nazarene.

Game Warden Asks Cooperation

With the opening of the season for hunting deer Saturday the woods will be crowded with hunters and I urge all hunters to be particularly careful - if you shoot be sure and know what you are shooting at. Just because you see some bushes move, don't shoot for you are apt to shoot another hunter.

It should not be necessary for me to caution you relative to the law regarding killing the doe deer. No true sportsman will shoot the doe.

I have recently placed several wild turkeys in Oxberry bottom. These turkeys are very tame, will eat out of your hand. If these turkeys are not molested we will have good turkey hunting grounds in a few years. The season for hunting turkeys is closed, so do not shoot should you chance to flush a drove.

It is my sincere hope that it will not be necessary to make any arrests for violation of any of our game laws this season and I ask your cooperation to this end.

Respectfully,
G. H. CUNNINGHAM,
Game Warden.

The Old Men's Home

The Old Men's Home in Jackson takes care of old, dependent, helpless old men. We will soon move into our new home where we can take care of about three times as many men as we now have.

Our needs will be greater this Thanksgiving than ever before. We need food, supplies, all kind of clothing new and second hand, shoes, hats, towels, bed clothes, feed for chicken, hogs and cows. We are in special need of syrup and canned goods of any kind.

Yours very truly,
J. P. Harrington, Supt.

ADMIRAL LEIGH A GRENADA VISITOR

Bob Sultan was a welcome visitor in high school Thursday. Come back again Bob, we enjoyed having you.

The ball games were not a success Tuesday evening, so will not take time and space to give the score. Due to the rain and mud, we came out less than Cascilla. We're not discouraged yet, we still have another chance.

James Sultain Haile and T. J. Tharpe entertained the school with guitar music and songs Thursday after Mr. McGahey made a talk of War and Peace. He also read a poem, "In Flanders Field," that was written by a soldier. We hope to have James and T. J. entertain us again.

You English students watch your language. Everyone is going around correcting someone else. So don't say ain't, done, etc.

We're still missing Jammie.

My, my, what's wrong with those rings? Believe we're going to make a trip to Texas soon to investigate. Watch out Texas, we are coming.

The boys and girls played a game of basketball with Spring Hill Friday night. The games proved to be in favor of Spring Hill, however, Gore Springs teams profited plenty of practice. After all, practice is what they need.

James Trussell, a 1937 senior, was walking around on the school grounds Monday at noon. We wonder what his object was. Think we caught him talking to Irene later. Be careful James, we don't allow that.

MR. WILLIAM DUBARD CELEBRATES NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

Monday, November 8th was a joyful day for our good friend, and one of Grenada's most loved citizens, Mr. William M. Dubard, for it was on that day, with his family gathered around about him, that he celebrated his ninetieth birthday.

In spite of his age, Mr. Dubard enjoys the best of health and is most active. He can be seen almost daily on the streets of Grenada chatting with his friends and discussing worthwhile topics of the day. He will be seen each Sunday at the Methodist Church, and he not only attends church, he practises the teachings of the Christian Religion. We have known him all our life and have never heard him utter one word of criticism about anybody. He is fair in his dealings with, and judgment of his fellow-man. The family that he reared, all now useful men and women with character, bear tribute to their father.

Mr. Dubard's parents came to Mississippi from South Carolina in 1832 and made their home near what is now Dubard Station, where Mr. Dubard was born and where he made his home until moving to Grenada.

Mr. Dubard was one of the dearest friends that our father ever had, and many a pleasant afternoon did they spend together. We only wish he were here today to write a glorifying tribute to Mr. Dubard for we feel so incapable of saying the things we would really like to say.

May the Lord in His goodness permit Mr. Dubard to have many more happy birthday reunions with his family and may the balance of his years be spent in peace and comfort.

THIS SCREWY AGE

The government's left hand knows not what its right hand doeth. That seems to be the only possible deduction to be made from a series of recent events.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a sweeping complaint against a number of large meat packing firms, on the grounds that they have violated the anti-trust laws by conspiring to manipulate and control prices.

And at the last session of Congress a law was passed—the Miller-Tydings Act—which makes a farce of all anti-trust legislation so far as it applies to trade-marked products in interstate commerce. The Act provides that the manufacturers of these products may establish the minimum retail prices at which they may be sold. Approximately 40 states have similar laws in effect. If a retailer refuses to hold to the "fixed" price, the manufacturer may blacklist him and refuse to deliver him more goods.

Price-fixing with government blessing is very new in our national life, but the effects of it are already seen. In less than a year, representative products, including cosmetics, liquors and drugs, rose in price 5 to 15 per cent above the levels obtaining before price-fixing was legalized. The future trend will inevitably be upward.

So we legalize anti-trust law violations for some concerns, and at the same time we prosecute others for alleged violations of the anti-trust laws! This curious situation will doubtless provide an interesting chapter for the scholars who will some day write the history of this screwy age.

FINANCIAL HOCUS-POCUS

(from the New York Times)

During the first four months of the current fiscal year the government of the United States has collected $215,000,000 in social security taxes. If anybody imagines that this money has been set aside under lock and key, in a special reserve fund which will accumulate interest over a period of years and enable the Government ultimately to pay the benefits which the Social Security Act requires, his faith is based upon a misconception of facts.

The $215,000,000 has all been spent, for a variety of purpose; perhaps to help build Grand Coulee Dam, perhaps to finance WPA projects in street-paving, perhaps to pay the salaries of officers in the navy—no one knows precisely, since the dollars that come into the Treasury are not so ear-marked that they can be identified when they go out again. As for the reserve fund which is supposed to supply the money needed in future years for the payment of benefits under the Social Security Act it consists at present only of Government I. O. U.'s.

Certain conclusions are inescapable. One is the fact that what the government has actually done has been to invent a new kind of corporation tax and a new kind of personal income tax, applied in the case of individuals even to the smallest incomes. Equally clear is the fact that this system is a constant beguilding temptation to governmental extravagance.

THE MITCHELL CASE DISPOSED OF

The Mississippi Supreme Court Monday handed down its decision on the now famous Mitchell case. Unless an appeal is taken to the United States Supreme Court, or he is granted executive clemency, which is not likely, William Clark Mitchell will on December 17 face the gallows for the arson-murder of an aged Yalobusha county negro. And that is as it should be for Mitchell was convicted of one of the most dastardly crimes in the history of Mississippi. If there be any justification in capital punishment, Mitchell should pay the extreme penalty or else no future convictions should carry with them capital punishment, regardless of race or social standing. Yet some of our Northern Republican and Democrat politicians cry for an anti-lynching law. They claim that the negro does not stand a chance in the South, that he is not accorded justice. The record repudiate their claim.

In the case of Jack Byrd, a negro of Simpson county, who was tried and given a life sentence on the charge of having murdered Bilbo Cox, white, during the Christmas period of 1928, the lower court's decision was appealed to the state supreme court and that tribunal not only reversed the decision of the lower court but gave the negro his liberty. Judge Griffith, in rendering the court's opinion, used the following language:

"Upon careful study of this record and every detail of it, we cannot escape the conclusion that if this had been a case where a white man had killed a negro, or a negro had killed a negro, there would never have been a conviction. We therefore reverse the verdict and judgment; and since it is clear from the entire situation that the case is such that we would be compelled to take the same action in the event of another conviction, we order the defendant discharged."

In the case of Hampton vs. the state, Judge S. S. Calhoon, now passed to his reward, in rendering the opinion of the supreme court had this to say:

"Mullatoes, negroes, Malays, whites, millionaires, paupers, princes, and kings, in the courts of Mississippi are on precisely the same exactly equal footing. All must be tried on facts and not on abuse. Only impartial trials can pass the Red Sea of this court without drowning. Trials are to vindicate innocence or ascertain guilt, and are not to be vehicles of denunciation."

The Mitchell decision will go a long way towards answering critics of the North who do not give a hoot about the negro and who are only concerned with capturing the negro vote.

YOUR ACCIDENT BILL

Accidents account for about 30 per cent of America's total motoring costs!

This is the estimate of National Safety Council statisticians. They figure that the expense of an average 100-mile driving trip is $2.60, divided as follows: Gasoline, $1.50; oil, 20 cents; tires, 19 cents; accidents, 71 cents.

The direct cost of last year's accidents, according to the same authorities, was $1,640,000. That is enough money to build or pave 550,000 miles of road, at a cost of $3,000 a mile—or to buy 1,640,000 automobiles worth $1,000 each.

It is statistically impossible to accurately determine the indirect costs of automobile accidents. But all experts agree they are substantially greater than even the vast direct costs.

Here is a gigantic, totally unnecessary drain on the nation's economic resources. And, bad as that is, it is nothing compared to the human waste that the reckless and incompetent driver causes. In 1936, traffic accidents killed almost 38,000 human beings. They injured 1,300,000 more—of whom a large number will eventually die as a result of the accidents. Blasted careers, parentless children, ruined homes—these are but three of the consequences of a heavy foot on the throttle, a drunk at the wheel, an incompetent in control of a lethal machine weighing thousands of pounds.

We are now entering the winter season, in which the accident rate has always risen in the past. The most dangerous driving days are just ahead, with rain, ice, snow and early darkness to add to the always-present hazards. Yet it is within our power to revoke precedent, and make winter a safe season. All that is needed is the cooperation of each motorist and pedestrian. Do your part!

THE DUKE WILL SEE

Every man is naturally proul of his accomplishments, and doubly proud when, by comparison, his accomplishments are shown to excel those of his neighbor.

That comparison is about to be made. The Duke of Windsor is coming to America to study the "American Way," particularly the wages and living standards of working peoples.

In a German tool factory, one described as the "industrial pride of the German government," the Duke recently found that workers were earning 10 cents per hour—$4.80 per week.

Every one knows what this royal visitor will find in America: The world's highest wage scale, the world's highest living standard, the world's shortest working week—14,000,000 families owning their own homes.

Isn't that reason to be proud of the "American Way?" Is there any better and more convincing argument for preservation of the American system of private enterprise?

CROP PROGRAM

If Mother Nature hadn't been so generous with abundant crops of cotton and corn the Government wouldn't find it so difficult to find a program to help agriculture. The cotton crop is double estimated market needs. Every proposed plan of taxation for financing the situation meets with opposition.

THE COP IS GETTING CLOSER

AGRICULTURE OPPOSES TRAIN-LIMIT LAW

Agricultural America is gravely concerned with the proposed law to limit the length of freight trains to 70 cars, which has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House. A long list of agricultural papers and magazines have published editorials opposing the law, pointing out that it would make railroad operation more dangerous rather than more safe, and would eventually necessitate general increases in freight rates which would boost the cost of transporting farm products.

A typical editorial recently appeared in the Kentucky Farmers Home Journal, which said in part: "The increased cost of operation under the train-limit bill is conservatively estimated at $90,000,000. The question arises, who will pay it? The railroads cannot, out of present earnings. Freight charges will have to be increased and products of agriculture will have to bear their full share of the increased cost. Any general rise in freight rates, like a rise in taxes, must be borne by the public, and the farmers will, as usual, find themselves paying a little more than their fair share. Let us hope that when the train-limit bill reaches the House of Representatives, that body will have the wisdom to kill this bill and not harass railroad managements with higher costs than they today have to carry."

Farmers, manufacturers and other shippers have lately gotten a taste of what it means to force higher operating costs on our principal agency of transportation. Railroad labor has long bee namong the highest paid in the world—but this year both operating and non-operating workmen demanded and finally received wage increases. The railroads were forced to petition the ICC for higher rates. The ICC has allowed rate boosts on a number of articles.

Yes, the public must pay the bill. And the public, 100 per cent, pays for every rail rate boost—because it is very doubtful if a single person could be found in this whole nation who is not using a commodity affected by rail tariff.

THEY SAY WAGE-HOUR LAW WOULD NOT INJURE THE FARMER...HE KNOWS BETTER

These Facts Compel Farmers to Oppose Federal Wage-Hour Law

When bills to impose Federal regulation of wages and hours upon all industry were introduced in the last session of Congress, proponents of the legislation announced that farmers would not be affected.

DID THEY HOPE TO FOOL THE FARMERS?

There was the Black-Connery Labor Standards bill, then the bill from Senator Black's committee, then the House Labor Committee bill. Provisions of each of these bills very seriously and adversely affect the farmers. True, agricultural labor—actual workers employed strictly on the farms in production of crops—was exempt. BUT—

Here are some of the ways in which hardships will be imposed upon the farmers if this proposed legislation is enacted:—

The proposed bills provide that a Federal board of five sitting in Washington, D C., shall classify all of the industries of the country and shall fix the number of hours of work per week and the mimimum wages of employes of all the industries and concerns engaged in interstate commerce. This means that thousands of canning plants, cotton gins, creameries, fruit and vegetable packers, meat packers, compresses, oil mills, grain elevators, in fact all industries processing agricultural products, will have wages and hours prescribed by the Federal board of five in Washington.

While under present proposed bills actual farm labor will be exempt from the board's action, yet when the codes of wages and hours are fixed for the plants handling and processing farm products in the agricultural sections, it will be impossible to keep the action from extending directly or indirectly to farm workers in such sections.

All of the increased costs incurred by the varied industries handling and processing agricultural products will not be passed on to consumers. Past experience demonstrates that some of the increased costs come out of the pockets of producers and are reflected in reduced prices paid to farmers for their products.

Virtually all manufactured articles that are used by farmers will have to be marked up in price when manufacturers are required to pay higher wages and reduce hours of employment of their workers. This means the farmer will have to pay higher prices for what he buys, while receiving less for the products of his farm.

Increased wage-rates for industrial employes in agricultural sections will naturally bring about keener competition for farm hands, and farmers will be faced with scarcity of workers or obliged to pay higher wages to their help.

Operators of numerous industries, particularly the smaller concerns, are convinced that Federal regulation of wages and hours of their employes will force many plants to go out of business. This would increase unemployment and throw a great number of jobless men in the rural communities back on the farms to raise additional surplus crops, thus cutting down the farmers' prices and markets.

Higher wages must mean higher prices for manufactured products. A stab at your pocketbook!

Processors of farm products forced to pay higher wages will cut costs wherever they can. They will insist on lower prices for your products. Another cut in your income!

When the 5-man board fixes wages and hours for grain elevators, creameries, cotton gins, canning plants—the next step will be agriculture. They'll get you next.

Can the Farmers of the Country Afford to Accept a Law Which Will Require Them to Pay Higher Prices for Their Purchased Goods While Receiving Lower Prices for What They Produce? Can They Stand This Extra Burden?

Farmers! Urge Your Congressmen and Senators to Defeat This Ruinous Legislation

DOUBLE PARKING!

The general public has cooperated nicely about this menace, but there are times when some unnecessarily abuse the leniency shown them by the officers. Please take notice of the inconvenience you are causing others, and thereby avoid further disturbance by abusing and violating the law.

E. C. NEELLY, Mayor

The Secretary of State's Department is the recipient of numerous requests for information from time to time, and many of these requests are for information that require considerable research from records other than those kept in the Secretary of State's office. However, it is a policy of the office to answer those inquiries, if possible, and if not, then to refer them to some department or agency, that we believe can answer them.

Only a few days ago, some friend inquired as to how many counties there were in the State of Mississippi when admitted to statehood in 1817? There were only fourteen, and all of these had been created as territorial counties, created or established as such from 1799 to 1815 inclusive. You recall that the Mississippi Territory was established in 1798, and a form of government, and was not admitted as a state until 1817.

These fourteen counties, with the date of their establishment, are as follows: The county of Adams is the oldest county of the State—established April 2, 1799; the next oldest counties are Claiborne, Jefferson and Wilkinson, all three established in 1802; Amite, Franklin, Warren and Wayne counties were created in 1809; Marion and Greene counties were established in 1811, and Hancock and Jackson—two coast counties—were established in 1812; Lawrence county was created in 1814, and Pike, the youngest of the territorial counties, was created in 1815.

The foregoing counties were the only ones represented by delegates in the Constitutional Convention held in 1817 in the "Old Brick Church" at Washington, Miss., to draft and adopt the first Constitution for the forthcoming State of Mississippi. The town, or village of Washington, located a few miles east of Natchez, in Adams county, was the capital of the old Mississippi Territory, and became the first capital of the new State of Mississippi. The brick church, erected there in 1816, was perhaps the most pretentious building in the community and the most commodious, it was used as the first state house of the state for some three or four years.

During the first twenty years of Mississippi's statehood, there were forty-one additional counties created, making the total of fifty-five counties in 1840. The fourteen original counties of the new state were very large and later, parts of these counties were taken to compose other counties. Twelve counties were created between 1819 and 1830, inclusive. Then the famous treaties with the large tribes of Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians which occurred during this early period, added much territory to the new State, from which added counties were formed.

As stated at the end of 1830 Mississippi had 26 counties. The treaty at Doak's Stand with the Choctaws in 1820; the Treaty with the same tribe in 1826, aided in securing territory for the twelve counties in that decade. But the famous Treaty of Dancing Rabbit with the Choctaws in 1830, and the Treaty of Pontotoc with both the Choctaws and Chickasaws in 1832 opened up large territory in the Eastern, central and northern portions of the State, and as a result, there were 17 new counties created in the Choctaw country in 1833, and another 13 were created in the Chickasaw and Choctaw countries of the state in 1836.

Thus, at the close of 1836, Mississippi had fifty-six counties, and from that year until the close of the 19th century, nineteen more counties were created—the last of these nineteen being Pearl River, established in 1890. Just seven counties have been created since 1890, these being the counties of Lamar in 1904; Jefferson Davis in 1906; Forrest in 1908; George and Walthall in 1910; and Humphreys in 1918.

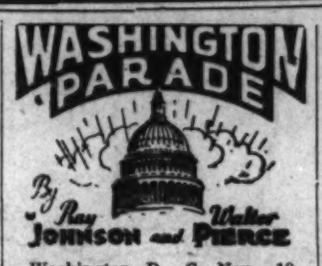
Governor White has announced that he will not accept any speaking dates after November 16th, and devote his time to his office. However, he further stated that his biennial message to the Legislature of 1938 will be brief. He has indicated that his major recommendations to the legislature will include: The completion and extension of the state's highway program; Free text books for elementary schools of the state; the continuation of the advertising and industrial programs in Mississippi; lowering the rate to which the advalorem tax may be reduced to a point below four mills. The law now provides that even on the advice of the state treasurer, state auditor and tax chairman, the rate cannot be reduced lower than four mills; Increasing appropriations for schools, eleemosynary institutions and other departments.

The Mississippi State Nurses Association held a two days' annual convention at Greenville last week. At the conclusion of a successful session, they elected Mrs. Alice Finley of Tupelo, as associational president for the next year, and also selected Biloxi as the place for their 1938 convention.

Mississippi has another new and promised activity. With the activities for publicizing the advantages of the State and to bring new industries to the Magnolia State, this new activity promises to care for at least one phase of the cultural side of our lives. A movement is on foot, under the promotion of Prof. Wm. A. Deal, of Greenwood, to organize a corporation, to be known as the Mississippi Civic Opera Company. The object of the organization will be to train Mississippi's young and talented vocalists, in order to be able to present to Mississippi audiences Americanized opera performances, and to give our own rare talent, of which the State has a profusion, an opportunity to cultivate and train their talent, not only for profit, but entertainment and culture as well. Prof. Deal has the endorsement and commendation of many of the leading dramatic critics, both foreign and American, and has had years of experience in opera direction. This is regarded as a rare opportunity for Mississippi music lovers.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Department of Archives and History, held on Tuesday of last week, the election of a successor to the late Dr. Dunbar Rowland as director of this department, was postponed for a thorough study of the qualifications and fitness of the different applicants for this position. The Board designated the president, Hon. W. H. Watkins, Judge Garland Lyell and Hon. Alf Stone, as a committee to study the applications and make report back to the Board before final action is taken.

It is stated that the Board decided to fill the place with a young man, and it is quoted further as stating that they want a man, "who will not use the position as a stepping stone to some other work, but who will make the position of director of this Department his life work."



Washington, D. C., Nov. 19—The folks of the little Pennsylvan ia village of Gettysburg must have awakened on that July morning nearly three quarters of a century ago with much the same feeling of apprehension that political Washington feels today. There is going to be a battle here—the second round of the New Deal—Old Deal encounter—and in this round or rather this session of Congress one side must win and one side must lose. The result will law the course of the nation for many years to come.

President Roosevelt has served notice that he is determined to fight for the passage of many of the Administration measures which were sidetracked or ignored in the smokescreen of the Supreme Court reform battle. That he is so determined indicates that he feels he has the backing of the majority of the voters.—Especially the farm and labor element.

No doubt the abrupt increase in the importance of the Labor vote as a unit in the recent elections has influenced him. For the first time since the CIO-ALF split the administration is making a vigorous effort to bring about some sort of an agreement. From the administration point of view this breech must be healed before the congressional elections of 1938 lest the Labor vote be divided at that time and part of it lost to the New Deal candidates.

It is probable too that any measures recommended to Congress to lighten the tax burden will definitely favor the small businessman. Big business, it is safe to predict, will receive neither favors nor relief.

Exactly what the opposition will do it is impossible to say until congress convenes for the reason—and it is a source of the President's strength—that the opposition will not be unanimous. The congressman who may oppose bitterly this measure is forced by the nature of his constituency to support that.

Both the administration and the opposition will agree, however, that something must be done to revive slumping business. Most reliable of the weekly indices show a definite downward trend to the lowest level in eighteen months.

Here again the President will have the advantage since the slump is ascribed in some degree to the fact that relief and WPA and government spending generally have been curtailed and this curtailment was at the insistence of big business.

Informed economic students point out that the simple cause of this slump has been the abrupt rise in prices without a corresponding increase in the purchasing power of the average family. The only possible remedy, the administration will point out, is some form of wage hour bill to raise that purchasing power. And since increased wages will certainly mean increased prices, it is equally certain that there will be no modification of the taxes designed to prevent big business from making increased profit out of those increased prices.

In the recent death of Judge William Hemingway the State sustained a distinct loss, and the University of Mississippi's Law Department a great loss. For many years Judge Hemingway had been the head of the law department of that famous institution, and was very dear to the hearts of the student body of the department. It has been announced that Judge W. G. Roberds of West Point had been selected to fill the vacancy as professor of the law department, his duties to begin on December 1st.

Director Fred B. Merrill of the State Forestry Commission, stated yesterday that the Commission is getting ready to ship within a week or two a total of five million slash pine and black locust seedlings, the seedlings being approximately one year old. The commission already has orders for four million of these, and Director Merrill states that all parties desiring a shipment of these seedlings should get their orders in early, so that they may be guaranteed a delivery. The seedlings are priced by the Commission at $1.50 per thousand.

Mr. Merrill states that these pine and locust seedlings are grown on the University State Forest nursery down in South Mississippi, which occupies 23,000 acres of land in the counties of George, Harrison, Stone and Jackson, and that this big nursery has been under the Commission's protection since 1926, and that the University has for some time been receiving an average income of about $2,000 monthly from its proceeds.

With the coming of more and more industries to Mississippi—that is, industries that will manufacture into the finished products the raw material that is produced and can be produced in the State, it is easy to see that the overproduction of King Cotton can not always keep the farmers of Mississippi down. We have now in Mississippi factories for the manufacture of peanut butter, peanut oil, starch from potatoes, fine cane syrup, canning of turnips, beans, peas, cucumbers, tomatoes; tung oil industries of South Mississippi; in fact Mississippi is not only an ideal location for these factories, but has ideal soil, climate and seasons for production of almost any kind of food crop.

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place.

In such cases, Cardui has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

Cotton

Census report shows that there were 11,704 bales of cotton ginned in Grenada county from the crop of 1937 prior to November 1 as compared with 11,450 bales ginned to November 1, crop of 1936.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. County Cooperative Distributes Three Cars Seed and Fertilizer

(By J. L. Cooley, County Agent)

The Grenada County Cooperative established a record for its amount of winter legume cover crop seed ever to be distributed in Grenada County. Two car loads of vetch, Austrian peas, bur clover oats and one car of lime fertilizer for these crops was handled this fall. One car of the winter cover crop seed was distributed to the farm Cooperative of Yalobusha and Calhoun counties. Despite the low price of cotton and the extreme long harvesting season, the farmers of Grenada county took time to plant approximately 1240 acres to protect their soils from the erosion of winter rains and to enrich their soils. Most of these farmers fertilized a portion of these crops with Basic Slag (lime and phosphate) fertilizer for demonstrations.

The following farmers have planted these soil building crops to enrich their soil: E. C. Hayward, W. A. Hayward, W. N. Hayward, P. L. Bennett, L. L. Peeples, J. D. Ashcraft, F. E. Gillon, John C. Conley, J. L. Elliott, J. E. Shaw, J. G. Shaw, J. W. Willis, W. A. Pittman, Walter Knox, F. C. Tyner, J. A. Thomas, R. E. Christopher, J. W. Taylor, J. R. Parker, J. S. Hankins, R. West, E. A. Parker, W. H. Kirk, P. E. Brown, B. W. Smith, W. B. Buchanan, H. H. Milan, F. B. Coats, J. A. Heath, R. T. Suggs, J. H. McCormick, M. V. McCormick, J. J. Jones, W. A. Martindale, D. V. Mallory, J. M. Cooley, J. W. Jordan, R .M. Smith, C. A. Martin, T. W. Goodwin, C. H. Perry, T. F. Worsham, L. C. Litten, E. D. Holcomb, Tilman Suggs, J. O. Smith, N. C. Shook, A. V. Clark, J. P. Abel, W. A. Winter, W. L. Lamon, F. T. Lawrence, S. G. Daily, W. F. DeLoach, J. H. James, W. F. Martin, H. J. Ray, J. F. McRee, G. O. Sanford, L. B. Koonce, H. H. Marter, H. L. Many Plant Bur Clover Seed Plots

The lack of fences has prevented many other farmers from improving their farms with these crops. The practice of growing these crops will very likely lead to the observance of our stock law. This will also encourage our farmers to do more fall plowing and improve their soil by plowing under crops as soon as harvested. Many of our farmers have planted one-half to three acre seed plots of bur clover to grow their own seed supply and a surplus to sell through the Cooperative another year. This clover will produce from 100 to 400 bushels of seed per acre, which is sufficient to plant from 10 to 40 acres. Money saved is money made. Bur clover is as good for soil building purposes as the other recommended cover crops. When the farm is once soded to this clover it will become unnecessary to continue planting each year. This clover makes enough seed one year to insure a growing stand for the following 3 to 5 years. When the stand becomes thin, the crop can be allowed to mature seed again to reseed the farm for another period of 3 to 5 years. This practive of growing our own seed will make it unnecessary for our farmers to import vetch and Austrian pea seed in the future at a big saving to our farmers.

PONTOTOC BOY WINS $400.00 SCHOLARSHIP

State College, Miss., Nov. 19—Jesse Henry, Mississippi 4-H Club boy from Pontotoc county, won the $400 scholarship award in the National 4-H rural electrification contest, J. E. Tanner state boys' club agent, announced from Chicago in a telegram to M. M. Bedenbaugh, district club agent.

Jesse has been a club member for nine years. He has made an enviable record. He won a free educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago last fall and represented Mississippi at the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C. the past summer.

He has conducted club projects in corn, cotton, purebred pig, and dairy which netted him a total of $1,941.

In the national rural electrification contests he was first selected as state winner over 231 boys and girls who participated in this project activity and then went on to win first in the southern region and then captured first place in the national contest over three regional winners and six winners from the country at large.

Contestants were judged on their all-around record in 4-H club work, their ability to map practical plans for the installation and use of electricity on the farm and in the home and wrote a one thousand word story on advantages of electrifying the farm. The activity was supervised by the 4-H club division and F. M. Hunter, specialist in rural electrification, Mr. Bedenbaugh said.

Year's Best Asset On Farms Of State Is Good Feed Crops

Needed for Feed on Farms and For Enlarged Livestock Program

Mississippi's splendid crops of grain and hay will be needed at home before another harvest ,and should not be sacrificed now only to be re-purchased at higher prices a few weeks or months from now, suggested J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture.

The 1937 yield of corn, estimated at 44,081,000 bushels, is referred to by the farm commissioner as the best harvest of recent years It compares with 39,570,000 bushels produced in 1936, and with 32,192,000 bushels during the five-year period 1928-32. The forecast yield of hay is 1,005,000 tons, which is slightly more than produced last year and almost double the five-year average of 540,000 tons. Other principal food and feed crops promise to yield proportionately.

"Last year and the year before, considerable quantities of Mississippi-grown corn were sold at about harvest time at prices that were favorable compared to depression levels. This year the price situation is not so favorable on account of bumper crops of corn and other grains thoughout the United States. If corn were produced in Mississippi in commercial quantities, then we would have no choice but to sell at the market price. But that is not the case and has not been the case in many years. The good crop of this year is approximately 20 million bushels short of the state's annual requirements, and before many weeks farmers will be buying feed at much higher prices.

"We spend millions of dollars every year for pork and beef products and this money goes out of the state to other producing areas Fifty-cent corn means that pork could be produced for about 5-cents per pound, and that is cheap pork. Our dairy cattle and our beef cattle pay dividends on corn at present prices.

"There is another thought that may be worth consideration. Should Congress enact a drastic crop control law it will involve a drastic change in our state's agricultural setup—more land to crops other than cotton, more feed grains for which markets must be found. The best of these grain markets is farm-fed livestock.

"Abundant corn and hay crops now being harvested give us a splendid start, whether to feed the stock and provide the meat supply for another year, or to provide for increased industry. To sell at low prices is to sacrifice two golden opportunities."

4-H Boys Club Tendered Banquet

(By L. H. Stubblefield)

The Grenada County 4-H sponsors entertained the 4-H Club boys of the county at a banquet Friday night, November 12th, at 6:30 in the Grenada Community House. This is the second annual sponsors banquet for the 4-H club boys. This delightful annual affair is one of the high lights of the Grenada County 4-H year. All county and state fair prizes and ribbons are awarded at the banquet.

John Pressgrove, Chancery Clerk, acted as Master of Ceremonies. L. H. Stubblefield, Assistant County Agent, awarded the following boys county and state prizes: Cotton, James Shaw, 1st, Gore Springs; Glen Peeples, 2nd, Grenada and Geo. Mullen, 3rd, Holcomb; Corn: James McNeer, 1st, Holcomb, James Johnson, 2nd, Gore Springs, William Paul Childs, 3rd, Holcomb; Sweet Potatoes: Ed McCormick, Jr., 1st, Kirkman, Francis McMahan, 2nd, Kirkman, Geo. Vickery, 3rd, Kirkman; Peanuts: Glen Peeples, 1st, county, 2nd state; Pure Bred Pig: Doc Worsham, 1st Junior Gilt, Gore Springs, Charles Trussell, 1st Junior Gilt, Gore Springs, R. J. Turnbo, 2nd Junior Male and Junior Gilt, Gore Springs; Tony Chamberlain, 1st sow and litter, Gore Springs. Miss Ruth Geeslin, attractive and very charming niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Geeslin ,who is a student at Grenada High School, gave each club boy his prize as Mr. Stubblefield announced his name and award. The tables were arranged and decorated by Mr. W. O. Geeslin and Mrs. L. H. Stubblefield. The flowers were grown by Mrs. Geeslin. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Alexander had charge of serving.

The cooperation of the following sponsors made the banquet possible: J. H. Bull, G. S. Kent, J. D Dyre, J. H. Neely, W. E. Boushe, John T. Keeton, Jim Keeton, H. H. Heath, J. D. Crenshaw, J. H. Murray, O. D. Spratlin, Lawrence Roberts, Dr. Clanton, Donald Sharp, L. J. Doak, Louis Weir, W. E. Jackson, John Pressgrove, Frank Jones, Sr. Durrow Horn, Dr. Cecil Smith, Dr. Sam Caruthers, R. C. Trusty, and John Rundle.

Judge John F. Allen Points Out Need of Organization At Farmers' Meet

The urgent need for the organization of cotton farmers was pointed out at a meeting of 400 farmers at Kosciusko last week (November 13) by Hon. John F. Allen, circuit judge of the fifth judicial district of Mississippi. He is seen above (on left) with Henry Simmons, Attala County agricultural agent. Following an address by Oscar Johnston who said farmers must organize for self-protection, Judge Allen took the floor to endorse the movement. Said he, "The organization of our cotton farmers cannot be stressed too much. Congress will meet Monday for the special purpose of devising a permanent program for cotton producers. Our people should appreciate the fact that they cannot individually reach the ear of Congress, but can be heard collectively. Hence, we should organize at once and thru the Farm Bureau express ourselves."

Tung Oil Bulletin Has Been Issued

State College, Miss., Nov. 19—In response to many requests for authoritative information on tung oil production, the Mississippi Extension Service has published a popular bulletin on Tung Oil Production in Mississippi prepared by Chesley Hines, County Agent, of Harrison County.

The attractive bulletin, just off the press, is packed with practical information and is now available for general distribution to farmers upon request to county agents or the State Extension Service, announces E. H. White, director of extension.

The bulletin gives a description and history of the tung oil tree, the uses and economic importance of tung oil, the yield and income to expect from its production and man other interesting facts.

Steps in production such as clearing the land, preparing the soil, planting the trees, cultivation and management, fertilizing, harvesting and marketing, are covered in the publication.

The bulletin also carries a list of available publications on tung oil which will give additional information on this new farm enterprise.

State Farm Advisory Committee Named

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 19—George M. Reynolds, state director of the Farm Security Administration announced the appointment by Secretary Wallace of the State Farm Advisory Committee for Mississippi.

The advisory committee, consisting of nine agricultural leaders in the state, will aid in the administration of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act by advising the Secretary of Agriculture in the selection of counties in which loans to tenants should be made and in the selection of county committees within their respective states.

The appointees for Mississippi are:

P. F. Williams, Chairman, delta farmer and merchant, former superintendent of education in Coahoma county, Clarksdale.

E. H. White, state director of extension and chief of Mississippi AAA program, State College.

A. D. Stewart, manager Mississippi Cotton Cooperative Association and small farm owner, Jackson.

R. H. Fisackerly, state supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, Jackson.

Mrs. J. A. Randle, wife of small dairy and cotton farmer, leader in home demonstration organization, Starkville, RFD.

Charles Beacham, tennant farmer, Kosciusko.

Hugh F. McWilliams, creamery operator, Hattiesburg.

Hal Overstreet, farm owner DeKalb.

Oliver Emmerich, Editor McComb Daily Enterprise and former president Mississippi Press Association, McComb.

Director Reynolds will serve as executive secretary of the advisory committee.

The new committee will serve without financial remuneration except for expenses while attending official meetings. The body will aid the Secretary of Agriculture to make the administration of the program of loans to deserving farm tenants as effective as the funds available will permit. An allocation of $10,000,000 for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1938 has been made for the United States. Mississippi's first-year allotment, based on total farm population and prevalence of farm tenancy, is $640,595.

Approximately 300 counties in the nation will be selected for the operation of the Farm Tenant Purchase program during the first year of its administration.

In commenting upon the appointment of the state committee, Director Reynolds said:

The first duty of the state committee will be that of assisting the Secretary of Agriculture in the selection of counties in this state in which tenant purchase loans are to be made during this fiscal year.

"Farm population and the prevalence of tenancy will be principal criteria used in determining counties for loan purposes. It is planned to make no less than five loans and no more than ten in each county selected. The number of counties eligible to participate will depend on the size of the average loan. It has been estimated that these will average about $3,500. This would indicate that Mississippi's allotment will allow 182 loans in the state the first year. Assuming that the minimum of five loans will be made in a county, this would indicate that about 36 counties will be selected to participate.

"The state committee will not pass upon applications for individual loans made by tenants in the counties chosen. Tenants in designated counties wishing to obtain loans for purchasing of farms should file applications with their county rural rehabilitation supervisor. County committees, consisting of three farmers, to be named later by the Secretary of Agriculture, have the major responsibility in selection and approval of applications. No applications will be accepted from tenants in counties not chosen to participate in this year's tenant purchase program and it is useless for persons in counties not so designated to apply at this time. When counties have been selected, the names will be made public."

Reynolds said a date for the first meeting of the new committee has not yet been set.

The State Plant Board Adopts New Potato Rules

State College, Miss., Nov. 19—All wholesale grocers and seed dealers in Mississippi are being notified by the State Plant Board of the recent adoption of a regulation which prohibits the sale of all seed Irish potatoes for spring planting except those inspected and certified by the official plant inspection agencies of the states where they were grown. The regulation also specifies that if ten per cent of the potatoes are lightly infested with scab, they may be rejected. No restriction was placed on the sale of seed potatoes for fall planting since these are usually home grown and of very fair quality.

Commenting on the necessity for the new regulations, Dr. Clay Lyle Entomologist and Executive Officer of the Board, stated that there were such wide-spread losses during the past spring on account of the planting of uncertified seed that the Board decided it would be justified in prohibiting the sale of such seed. Since most dealers are already handling certified seed, it is expected that the new regulation will cause no inconvenience or hardship to anyone.

Another regulation adopted by the Board provides all sweet potato plants sold in Mississippi by any person other than the grower must have been dipped in a 20-20-50 Bordeaux mixture unless the plants are in the original unbroken container as packed by the grower. The purpose of this regulation, says Dr. Lyle, is to prevent the spread of black rot and other sweet potato diseases while the potato plants are in the hands of the dealer. Bordeaux mixture treatment has been very effective in preventing the spread of sweet potato diseases while the plants are being transported or held in storage for sale.

Both of the regulations are effective immediately and persons interested may secure full information about them by writing the State Plant Board at State College, Mississippi.
